Præludium (Prælud:) D. S. Weichenberg

The image displays a handwritten musical score for a prelude. It consists of six systems, each with a system number (1-6) on the left. Each system contains two staves of music. The notation is highly stylized and includes various rhythmic and melodic patterns. The notes are often written in a shorthand style, with some letters (a, r, e, k, h, f, g, b) used to represent specific notes or chords. The first system (1) starts with a treble clef and a common time signature. The second system (2) starts with a treble clef and a common time signature. The third system (3) starts with a treble clef and a common time signature. The fourth system (4) starts with a treble clef and a common time signature. The fifth system (5) starts with a treble clef and a common time signature. The sixth system (6) starts with a treble clef and a common time signature. The score is written in black ink on white paper.
