

Preludes

Accord du luth : sans altération

1

The first prelude consists of a single line of music on a five-line staff. It begins with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol. The notation includes various note heads, some with stems and flags, and rests. There are several 'a' characters below the staff, some with double slashes, indicating fingerings or specific notes. The piece ends with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol.

2

The second prelude is a single line of music on a five-line staff. It starts with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol. The notation includes notes with stems and flags, and rests. There are 'a' characters below the staff, some with double slashes. The piece concludes with a decorative floral ornament.

3

The third prelude is a single line of music on a five-line staff. It begins with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol. The notation includes notes with stems and flags, and rests. There are 'a' characters below the staff, some with double slashes. The piece ends with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol.

4

The fourth prelude is a single line of music on a five-line staff. It starts with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol. The notation includes notes with stems and flags, and rests. There are 'a' characters below the staff, some with double slashes. The piece concludes with a decorative floral ornament.

5

The fifth prelude is a single line of music on a five-line staff. It begins with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol. The notation includes notes with stems and flags, and rests. There are 'a' characters below the staff, some with double slashes. The piece ends with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol.

6

The sixth prelude is a single line of music on a five-line staff. It starts with a vertical bar line and a fermata-like symbol. The notation includes notes with stems and flags, and rests. There are 'a' characters below the staff, some with double slashes. The piece concludes with a decorative floral ornament.